Inauguration a day to remember for student

Shannon Crouch, a sophomore honor student at Morgan County High School, was afforded an opportunity to attend the Presidential Youth Inaugural Conference held Jan. 17-21 in Washington, D.C. Though the view of the pagentry was limited, she said her recollections of her experiences will last a lifetime, particularly the remarkable outpouring of kindness and good will exhibited by the tremendous crowd or ordinary citizens from across the nation that attended the Inauguration of President Barack Obama.

Shannon is the daughter of Darlene Crouch of Wrigley and granddaughter of Arlena and John David Lewis of West Liberty.

During her stay in Washington, Shannon attended an inaugural ball and had the opportunity to interact with White House officials, congressional staff members, and other VIPs, including former Secretary of State Colin L. Powell and former Vice President Al Gore.

By Shannon Crouch

On January 20, 2009, I had the opportunity to attend the inauguration of our new president, Barack Obama. In taking this opportunity to visit the Capitol I witnessed a life changing moment in which Obama took the Oath of Office for the Presidency. Today I would like share with you this wonderful experience.

The streets were so crowded with people that busses had to drop their fares off outside the city limits, no wheeled traffic allowed inside, not even bikes; that is unless you were willing to roll your bike alongside you the entire time. We had to walk about 15 minutes just to travel the length of Seventh Street. The crowd was so tightly packed that you had less than an inch between your body and the next person in any direction. You didn't have to worry about being cold in the 13 degree temperature for all the tightly jam-packed bodies surrounding you.

Trying to even get near the Capitol Building was a disaster in the making. At 9 o'clock the streets were filled, the place was packed, and on the National Mall, movement had to come to a stand still. The clock was running against you if you wanted to get up close.

The huge crowd (hundreds of thousands) was a mass of colors with little American flags everywhere waving

Visitors arrested at prison for trying to smuggle in drugs

WEST LIBERTY, Feb. 23 — Charges have been placed against two women after they were arrested during inmate visitation Sunday, February 22, at the Eastern Kentucky Correctional Complex (EKCC).

The prison's Internal Affairs Office received information that inmate Jerrard Garrett, 27, Louisville, would be receiving drugs during inmate visitation on Sunday, February 22. Shortly before noon, EKCC Internal Affairs officers were notified that Garrett's visitor, Chantillae Sullivan, 19, of Louisville, had passed something to the inmate during the visit. Sullivan was taken to the women's' bathroom and searched by a female correctional officer at which time five balloons were removed from Sullivan's underclothing. The substance tested positive for marijuana.

Sullivan told prison staff she rode to the institution with Kelley Barton-Jobe, 31, Louisville. EKCC staff received permission from Barton-Jobe to search her vehicle and found a bag that also tested positive for marijuana and also a bag containing 25 Hydrocodone pills. Kentucky State Police were contacted and took possession of the confiscated contraband, arrested the two visitors, and impounded the vehicle. The two women were lodged in the Carter County Jail on charges of first degree possession of marijuana and first degree promoting

County official appeals ruling by licensure board

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Morgan County Surveyor Joe Curd is appealing a six-month suspension of his professional land surveyor's license ordered by the Ky. State Board of Licensure for Professional Engineers and Surveyors.

The order stems from a complaint filed against Curd in 2005 in relation to his service as an expert witness in a boundary dispute case in Wayne County Circuit Court.

According to a licensure board spokesperson, an administrative hearing on the matter was held and the hearing officer recommended the license suspension after determining that Curd had violated the statutory code of professional practices and conduct for engineers and surveyors by "testifying inappropriately to help his client win." The licensure board upheld the hearing officer's recommendation and issued its order on Jan. 16.

Curd, who operates a surveying business in West Liberty, has appealed the ruling in circuit court and continues to practice his profession, pending the outcome of the appeals process.

Junction News

By Kathy Bolin

March 2 – Greetings from the Junction,

I hope we are in the final days of winter. These cold days are miserable. Spring officially starts on March 26.

Well, let's see what kind of news I have to report this week:

New owners of Plowboy General, Shaun and Jerrica Dalton, are expecting a daughter in June. Brothers Seth and Cole are excited about the upcoming arrival of their new sister.

Bobby McGlothen had the misfortune of losing his home last week to a fire. Cause of the fire is unknown.

This week's birthdays include Dorothy Ball, of Hwy. 437, and Crystal Pack, daughter of Danny Wayne and Christine Pack, of Lick Branch. Happy birthday!

Osa Jenkins, who was in an automobile accident a few weeks ago, is doing great in her recovery. Osa lives on Lower Sand Lick.

Pam Ross, wife of Kenny Ross, mechanic at the bus garage, is in a Lexington hospital recovering from a heart attack. The family would appreciate your prayers. Pam is doing well.

Denny and Bonnie Cantrell were in last weekend from Ohio. Addison had been over at ARH hospital with chest pains, but nothing serious came of it. He is now back at home.

Guess that's it for now. Pray the weather warms up and those day lilies start blooming.

Love visit

Talk about an appropriate place to spend Valentine's Day! Edward and Phyllis Keeton of West Liberty spent a few days last month visiting in North Carolina with her sister, Ada and Lonnie Webster. Their itinerary included a visit on Valentine's Day to Love Valley, where they were entertained by Andy Barker, the town's 84-year-old mayor. Billed as the Wild West Cowboy Capital of North Carolina, Love, is a replica of a cowboy-era wild west town and is a popular tourist stop.

Lexington financier dies in fall near cabin at Cliffview

A Lexington financier died early Saturday, Feb. 28, in a fall from a cliff near his cabin at Cliffview in the Red River Gorge in Wolfe County.

A friend said Donnie Miller, 56, had placed a camp chair near the edge of a cliff and lost his balance when the collapsible chair failed, falling 80 to 100 feet.

His brother and brother-in-law, who were spending the night with him, at the cabin, discovered he was missing when they awoke Saturday morning.

Miller's body was found early Saturday afternoon.

Miller operated DCM Lending Corp. in Lexington.

QUALITY QUICK LUBE

 Jerry Hopkins - Owner

The Judge's Corner

By Tim Conley
Judge Executive

Hello from Judge Tim Conley and Staff:

After writing about some of our communities, I just have not been able to stop thinking about Morgan County as a whole. So, this week, I want to talk about the people and places in some other areas of the county.

If you take a trip through the Malone, Caney and Cannel City areas, you will see so much history. Cannel City was a large city in Morgan County with a rich history of railroad, bank and cannell coal. The WPA building is still there and belongs to a private individual, and it would make a great retirement village for senior citizens. Don't forget to stop by the old Reed Dry Goods building, which is now a grocery store owned by Roger Finch. They have a great bologna sandwich and RC Cola.

Come up Hwy. 191 and go through the community, and you will surely enjoy every mile of the trip.

Now, another mini-vacation through our county would include a day driving through the Hwy. 172, Hwy. 437, Crockett, East Valley, Dingus communities, as well as all the surrounding communities in this area.

Be sure to take a camera and take this drive in July, August or September. You will see wild turkey and deer, as well as beautiful crops of tobacco, cane, corn and hay fields. When the tobacco fields are at their peak and the leaves are turning yellow, it is such a beautiful crop.

There are three stores along Hwy. 172, including Plowboy General, Gilliam's Grocery and Betty's Grocery. You can stop and get something to eat - anything from the best chicken stir fry to a can of viennas, or whatever you may be hungry for.

While you are in this area, drive on over to Patoker Campground, or picnic at Patoker Park. Take a fishing pole and fish on Paintsville Lake in Morgan County.

Give Dean Hill a call and go visit his studio. Dean is a well-known Morgan County photographer. He has beautiful photos taken right here in Morgan County, and he has a display booth at the Sorghum Festival every year.

You can also drive down into Lost Creek and take some photos of the rocks and cliffs. If you have a boat, you can enter the water at either the Lost Creek boat ramp or Mine Fork boat ramp. The scenery on this part of the lake is breathtaking.

White Oak is another community that is quiet and peaceful, and where gardens are still grown. People will welcome a visitor to sit and talk about our great county. Myself, I was raised on Lacy Creek up Honeymoon Holler.

There is a song, "I Wouldn't Take Nothing For My Journey Now." I feel blessed to travel my journey through Morgan County from the hills of Honeymoon Holler to the streets of West Liberty, to each and every community. I am blessed to serve you, the wonderful people of Morgan County. You are the greatest!

You can reach me by writing to Judge Executive Tim Conley, 450 Pretsionsburg St., West Liberty, KY 41472, by calling 606-743-3897 or by e-mailing mcfc.tc@gmail.com jauntily in the wind. I myself was only able to get close enough to where only about a mile of bodies was between me and the Capitol Building where the Inauguration took place. Let me tell you something, if you weren't at least seven feet tall, you had no chance to watch the Inauguration on one of the large television monitors located around the Mall. I am only 5' 4" so the most I could see was the back of people's necks and the sky directly above me.

Being in that crowd was probably the greatest experience I could have had. Strangers — people whose names I never learned — were kinder to me than most of the people you meet in a life time. These people, who were waiting in the cold for hours just to hear a few words, welcomed me into their embrace and allowed me to wait with them. A black man, whose name I do not know, gave up his viewing position so that I could get at least a glimpse of what was going on. Two women standing in the crowd trusted a complete stranger to hold their purses and a $500 camera, whilst they were getting situated. I don't know about you, but I doubt that I could be that trusting of anyone.

As the President's Oath of Office came and went, so did the cheers and smiles along with it. When the president's speech came to a close, my friend, Evan, and I struggled our way through the crush of the crowd to reach an open area. But, even outside the crowd you could feel the kindness and good will as people struggled to make a path for us even as they themselves were being crushed against others. As the crowd moved to exit the National Mall, government vehicles struggled their own way through the crush. Even once I recall my friend telling us all about a man and woman being hit by a government car. Still, even at the end of my hectic Inauguration Day experience, I could honestly say, I had witnessed a new beginning.

contraband. Barton-Jobe also was charged with first degree prescription not in proper container, first degree possession of drug paraphernalia and first degree driving under the influence.

Garrett is serving a 22-year sentence at EKCC on numerous charges, including first-degree robbery, kidnapping, burglary, and trafficking in controlled substances. Garrett will face additional charges of first degree introduction of dangerous contraband into an institution for this offense.

By Alpha Clevenger

Feb. 16--Sympathy is extended to those who are bereaved. Get well wishes to the sick and shutins.

We are all so thankful that the ice storm and snow is all melted at the present time and sure hope it didn't return. I have never experienced an ice storm as this one. It was the worst I ever saw. I thought the ice was never going to melt here in the yard at my home. I stepped out in the yard to feed my animals and slipped and fell and cracked 5 of my ribs. My breath was knocked out for a second or two. I finally got to my feet and came in the house and tried to do my work, but I had such pain and I had some Tylenol and took them and didn't go to the doctor till Thursday. I had x-rays made. I thought I had lung damage but thank God I didn't. I just kept taking the Tylenol 3 and blowing in the machine I had. The doctor told me to blow in it all I could to keep down pneumonia and I am doing fine. I have tried to walk all I can. I couldn't get out to walk so I walked inside and stairs, but I was so sore for a while I didn't do much of the stairs. I'm so thankful to the good Lord above for all He's done for me since I fell and I also thank Him for protectng me during the ice storm. There wasn't one tree fell near my hme and I have plenty of them real close and no big heavy limbs fell on my house and my electric wasn't off only from 7 a.m. til evening and it came back on. I was so grateful and thankful for that and the electric never went off no more. I prayed all the time for my family and their electricity to be restored soon. I worried about them and I called my friends and neighbors and asked them if they had power. I heard that some people still don't have their power back on yet. I feel for them. It's so bad to be without power in your homes or businesses, etc.

Alpha was recent guest of dempsey and Rosie and we cooked supper. We ate too much. It was delicious. Food taste so good when you eat with someone.

Alpha was Wednesday guest of Joy and family and enjoyed my visit with them.

Today and yesterday was sunny but windy. So glad the ice and snow has melted. It sure took a while for it all to melt off. Thanks Benny and Mary for the country eggs. They are good neighbors.

Barry came Thursday to get weater, but he didn't stay very long. I was disappointed. I was lonesome and wanted him to stay a while with me. He said he'd be back on Friday or Saturday.

How are you Jewell Lewis? Hope you and your family are well. Haven't heard from you in a while.

How are you Sue Kinner? Hope you and Earl are well. Haven't seen you in a while.

How are you Janie Collinsworth? You are a nice and friendly lady.

Thanks Ann and Gayle for wishing me a Happy Valentine's Day. It was appreciated very much.

Thanks to my granddaughter for the beautiful red rose she delivered to me on Valentine's Day. It was also appreciated. I was walking at the park on Monday evening and to my surprise I saw one big, beautiful red robin (Feb. 16th). I thought it was kinda early to see a robin and he didn't act afraid of me. I've alwyas heard said when you se a robin it's a sign of spring. So I guess spring isn't too far away and while I was walking too, I noticed the beautiful water in the river. It was swirling, rolling and waves, and such beautiful green color. I stood there looking and thinking of all the beautiful handi work the good Lord has made for all to see and I was thankful.

February 17 I was walking at Old Mill Park Tuesday afternoon. After I took lunch to Dempsey and I saw a lot of red robins. They were so beautiful and walking on the ground as robins do and then they up and fly, too.

I saw the most beautiful scene in the river. It's kinda hard to explain when the water had been high and then had gone down some and it left such a beautiful sight. I stood and admired it for a while. It was sand and a large amount of it and such beautiful color, brownish and ridges and rows of it. I thought how wonderful the almighty is to make such wonders in the world to see and enjoy.

Alpha talked to Joy about every day by telephone. They were very well and trying to stay warm on these cold winter days.

Today is Feb. 20th is clear, sunny and very cold and cold wind is blowing. i always did dread cold, windy weather. My mother always did, too. I guess about everyone does, but as we grow older, it's worse.

We always listen to the radio broadcasts on Sunday afternoon and Rev. Vernon Lewis and the others do a good job preaching. Keep up the good work for the Lord.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Woodford Cox. The news came today about his passing. He was 88 years old. May God bless and comfort each family member. We've known them a long time. They are good people.

Get well wishes to my son, Dempsey, who has been on the sick lost. He told me he was feeling some better today. He said he had his blood pressure checked and his blood pressure was high. Please all Christians pray for him. I have been worrying about him and praying for him every day. you know mothers worry about their children and pray for them. Mothers are like that you know.

March 1--Dempsey and Rosie were Saturday supper guest. I enjoyed their visit. Barry was Sunday guest and ate with me.

A Little Worn
A worn out chair may get left behind in a move, because it's not nice enough for the new house. It's worn for good reason. Somebody sat in it to read the morning paper and to watch television at night. Perhaps a child was rocked to sleep in his mother's arms while she rested in it. Kids may have jumped and crawled all over it. Some of us might consider forsaking the revered and trusted to search for novel methods for coping and finding contentment. We don't need to – God is faithfully waiting to give our spirit rest and to hold us in His loving arms. Just like a comfortable old chair. There's a place of comfort for you in God's house this week, why not step inside and have a seat?
